CULTURAL DIRECTIONS FOR GLADIOLI

Planting Time.—Gladiolus corms may be planted any time after the ground is open—with the earliest garden planting, if desired. A succession of bloom may be enjoyed, from the middle of July until frost, by planting at intervals from early April until the first of July.

Exposure.—Gladioli like full sunshine. Planting in the open garden gives the best results.

Depth of Planting.—Plant four to six inches deep, according to the character of the soil. In very light, sandy soil, six inches is not too deep, and if planted in long rows in the vegetable garden, they may be ridged, after they are well up, thus giving support to the stalks. In the heavier clay soils, more shallow planting is to be preferred.

GLADIOLI

Distance Apart.—Four inches apart gives room enough for good development.

Soil.—Any good garden soil produces good results. The lighter, well-drained soils are best. If you are planting especially for cutting, growing in rows in the vegetable garden and cultivating at the same time and in the same way as the vegetables, gives particularly satisfactory results.

Fertilizers.—Moderate application of stable manure, potato fertilizer, or bone meal will give good results. If stable manure is used, it should be applied in the fall before planting, and should be well rotted. It must not be allowed to come in direct contact with the bulbs.

Care.—Keep free from weeds and well cultivated. It is usually not necessary to stake, if the bulbs are planted deep and the stalks ridged up a bit for support. If much exposed to wind, it is well to stake choice varieties, for the growth of the flower stalk is seriously impaired by being blown over.

Cutting.—The best time to cut is when the first blooms are opening. In cutting, be careful not to remove all the foliage, as the leaves are needed for the proper development of the bulbs. By picking off the faded blooms at the base and cutting the ends of the stems, bouquets of gladioli may be kept for a week or longer in enjoyable condition.

Digging.—Dig in the fall, any time after the browning of the foliage shows that growth has been completed. All bulbs should be dug and stored before the ground freezes. If the soil is wet at digging time or if the foliage is still rather green, tie up in bunches and hang to dry in an airy place, before cutting off tops and giving final storage. If ground is fairly dry when digging, the bulbs may be dried off in a few hours, letting them lie on the ground where dug, tops may be cut off, and the bulbs stored.

Storage.—Store in a dry cool cellar. A temperature of 40 to 50 degrees is very good. Use shallow trays with wire bottoms, open baskets, or well ventilated boxes.

CULTURAL DIRECTIONS FOR DAHLIAS

Planting Time.—Any time from May first to July first.

Exposure.—The open garden is suitable for dahlias. Avoid the south side of a building, with very hot sun and little air circulation.

Depth of Planting.—Plant about six inches deep, being careful to lay the bulb on its side—never stand it up on end.

DAHLIAS

Distance Apart.—This is a matter of choice, according to the way you mean to grow the dahlias. If training to one stalk and tying to a stake, two feet apart will do. If you allow the stalks to develop as they grow naturally, without pruning, at least three feet between plants is needed.

Soil.—Dahlias like best a light soil and whether the soil is light or heavy, it must be well drained. Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon drainage. If your garden has a heavy clay loam soil and a clay sub-soil, lighten with sand or coal ashes. One part of sand or ashes to one part of soil will not lighten the soil too much.

Fertilizers.—Stable manure may be used with good results, if it is applied broadcast (the fall before, if possible), and well incorporated with the soil. A potato fertilizer gives good results and pulverized sheep manure is excellent. This may be applied at planting, or may be put on after the plants are up, by making a drill on each side of the bulb, about four inches away from it, and putting the fertilizer in the drill—a good handful of potato fertilizer, or about a pint of sheep manure.

Care.—Keep free from weeds and well cultivated. Tie to stakes if the plants need it, to keep from breaking down. Prune to one or two stalks to a hill. If you can water your Dahlias, it will pay you richly, especially when the bloom is beginning. But if you water at all, water thoroughly. Pull the soil into a basin shape around the plant and pour in three or four pailfuls of water. This, done once a week, will do real good. A little sprinkle each day is worse than useless.

Remove all weak or defective buds and do not allow many flowers to develop on a stalk.

Cutting.—Gnerous cutting is a good way to disbud and get pleasure from the blooms at the same time. When cutting, cut the stem below one or two joints, thus getting foliage and buds for decoration. Plunging the ends of the stems in boiling water for two or three minutes before placing in cold water, will help to keep the flowers fresh.

Digging and Storage.—After the first frost, lift the bulbs, dry off for a few hours in the air, store the clumps with the tops down, so that the watery substance in the stalk may run out. If you have a cement floor to the cellar and furnace heat, the containers for storage must be lined with paper and the bulbs covered, in order to prevent too much circulation of warm, dry air, with its accompanying drying action on the bulbs.

DAHLIAS

A temperature of 35 to 45 degrees is best. A cellar which keeps potatoes in good condition, without sprouting or shriveling, is right for dahlias.

If you are going to plant a few grapes for home use, we would be glad to help you choose your varieties.

We have grown to fruiting and tested more than fifty varieties of grapes. We have learned a number of interesting things about varieties, which we would be glad to pass on to you. We know that EARLY BIRD ripens its large, luscious, deep blue fruit early in August; that PORTLAND, called a white, has rich, golden grapes, ready for use the last of August; that CACO, a red variety originated in New Jersey, hangs heavy with handsome bunches of delicious grapes in September; that POCKLINGTON, white, and REGAL, red, are still full-flavored in October.

We have very limited stock of Grapes for sale. The price is .50 each, for two-year-old vines.

NUT TREES.

Nut trees are interesting and satisfactory material for the planting of small grounds.

We have no trees for sale directly, but would be glad to give you the benefit of our experience, and recommend nurserymen or purchase for you any NUT TREES you may care to plant.

We especially recommend late fall planting.

Our first planting of nut trees was made late in November, 1918. We have had the pleasure of having Filberts, English Walnuts and Heart Nuts in fruit.

Membership in the NORTHERN NUT GROWERS' ASSOCIATION costs $5.00 per year, including subscription to the official organ—The American Nut Journal.

Treasurer, H. J. Hilliard, Sound Beach, Conn.

CHINESE DWARF LEMON TREES.

CITRUS LIMONIA—LEMON—was collected by F. N. Meyer, Agricultural Explorer, at Feng-tai, near Peking. Cultivated by the Chinese as a decorative plant, this Lemon deserves a place among our house plants. It grows well out-of-doors during our summers, and there are very few days in the winter and spring in which it is not filled with blossoms or fruit or both. The fruit is of good flavor, as well as being decorative, and the little tree begins to bear fruit when only a small pot plant.

Prices: Trees in bud and bloom, sent by Parcel Post at .50 to $5.00, according to size.

Our WASHINGTON ASPARAGUS ROOTS are grown entirely from the best seed obtainable of this valuable strain of ASPARAGUS.
